DETAILED ACTION

Status of Claims

1. This action is responsive to amendment filed on November 13, 2007 where Applicant amended claims 1,9,17-21. Claims 1-21 are pending.

Response to Arguments

2. The previous objections to the claims and drawings are withdrawn.
3. Applicant's arguments filed 11/13/2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
4. Applicant argues that Blightman does not teach assigning memory space in the DMA command queue to a specific user process.

In reply, Applicants claim language is broad and is thus broadly interpreted. Applicants use of "user process" is broad. Blightman does teach where a command (i.e. user process) is exclusively assigned to a space in the DMA queue (column 4 line 35 – column 5 line 35). The claim language is silent regarding details of the program/user process that Applicant is arguing.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 1-21 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Blightman et al (US Patent No 7,133,940).

7. In reference to claim 1, Blightman teaches a computer network comprising:
at least two processing nodes each having a processor on which one or more user processes are executed and a respective network interface (column 4 lines 14-41); and a switching network which operatively connects the at least two processing nodes together, each network interface including a command processor and an addressable memory wherein the command processor of said network interface is configured to allocate to a user process the exclusive right to one or more segments of the addressable memory in said network interface as one or more command queues mapped by said network interface to said allocated addressable memory (column 4 line 56 – column 5 line 10).

8. In reference to claim 2, Blightman teaches a computer network as claimed in claim 1, wherein each one of said memory segments allocated as command queues is a contiguous series of memory addresses (column 5 lines 1-25).

9. In reference to claim 3, Blightman teaches a computer network as claimed in claim 1, wherein each memory segment of the network interface memory allocated as a command queue has associated with it a queue descriptor which includes a user process identification (column 5 lines 35-65).

10. In reference to claim 4, Blightman teaches a computer network as claimed in claim 3, wherein each queue descriptor includes an insert pointer identifying within the allocated memory segment the memory address where new commands from the relevant user process are to be written (column 5 lines 35-65).

11. In reference to claim 5, Blightman teaches a computer network as claimed in claim 3, wherein each queue descriptor includes a completed pointer identifying within the allocated memory segment the memory address of the end of the most recent completed command (column 5 lines 35-65).

12. In reference to claim 6, Blightman teaches a computer network as claimed in claim 1, wherein the network interface includes a scheduler configured to identify and schedule any active command queues in the network interface memory (column 6 lines 7-33).

13. In reference to claim 7, Blightman teaches a computer network as claimed in claim 6, wherein the scheduler has two or more run queues with at least one of the run queues being denominated a high priority run queue and at least one other of the run queues being denominated a low priority queue (column 7 lines 1-27).

14. In reference to claim 8, Blightman teaches a computer network as claimed in claim 1, wherein said network interface includes at least one of the following resources: a thread processor, short transaction engine and a DMA engine, and each command queue stored in said network interface memory has associated with it a corresponding one or more virtual resources (column 4 line 56 – column 5 line 25).

15. In reference to claims 9-16, claims 9-16 are network interface claims that correspond to the computer network claims of claims 1-8. Therefore, claims 9-16 are rejected based upon the same rationale as the rejections of claims 1-8.

16. In reference to claims 17-21, claims 17-21 are method claims that correspond to the computer network claims of claims 1-8. Therefore, claims 17-21 are rejected based upon the same rationale as the rejections of claims 1-8.

Conclusion

17. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
